

Is Fair Housing Still Relevant? Current Issues and Enforcement Activities

Thursday, November 17th at 7 p.m.
Newton Senior Center, 345 Walnut Street,

Newtonville

Genevieve Nadeau, Chief of the Civil Rights Division in the Massachusetts Attorney General's Office, will discuss current issues and enforcement activities in Massachusetts concerning housing discrimination against families with children under 18; persons with housing subsidies; persons with a disability who are refused a reasonable accommodation; and discrimination in advertising.

The program will also share the results of testing audits performed to determine the prevalence of housing discrimination in Newton.

Co-sponsored by the Fair Housing Committee and the Planning and Development Department of the City of Newton
